WELCOME TO MAYSVILLE

Maysville is located on the Ohio River at the mouth of Limestone Creek. It occupies the narrow river plain and the steep hills rising from it, giving the city the dual presence of downtown and 'on the hill'. The city extends inland to the historic former town of Washington. The city itself has a total area of about 20 square miles.

Maysville is served by two bridges connecting Kentucky and Ohio. The scenic Simon Kenton Memorial Bridge is a suspension bridge built in 1931. The William H. Harsha Bridge, a cable-stayed bridge, was completed in 2001.

Located 60 miles southeast of Cincinnati, OH and 70 miles northeast of Lexington, KY, Maysville is accessible by both four- and two-lane US and state highways. With a population over 17,000 in Mason County, everything you need is right here and anything else you might want is just a short, easy drive away.

Maysville was pivotal in the settlement of the Kentucky Bluegrass region. Founded in part by frontiersmen Simon Kenton and Daniel Boone, originally called Limestone Landing, Maysville was an important port for the northeastern section of the state. Manufacturers located early in Maysville, exporting everything from hemp and tobacco to fancy ironwork. To this day, manufacturing remains an important part of the modern economy.

Buffalo used to cross the Ohio River at this place, beating a broad path into the interior of Kentucky in search of salt. Settlers traveling down the Ohio found a natural harbor at Limestone Creek, and the buffalo trace a natural path into the Bluegrass Region extending all the way to Lexington. The first settlement in the area was made by Simon Kenton in 1775.

In 1788, when Mason County was organized, Maysville was still a sparse collection of warehouses and wharves, with few dwellings. In 1795 the conclusion of the Northwest Indian War reduced the likelihood of Indian attacks from across the Ohio and allowed Maysville to flourish. By 1907, Maysville was one of two principal Ports in Kentucky.

Maysville was an important stop on the Underground Railroad with the free state of Ohio just across the river. Harriet Beecher Stowe visited the area in 1831 and witnessed a slave auction here. Stowe included the scene in her novel Uncle Tom's Cabin, published in 1852. Today, several museums in the Buffalo Trace region are dedicated to the memory of the abolition of slavery.

Prior to Kentucky's statehood, Maysville was part of Old Bourbon County, Virginia, where pioneer distillers discovered that the Indian corn and limestone water of the region made a product of mellow character and distinguished flavor.

Today, the bourbon-making tradition is carried forward by fifth and sixth generation Pogues using the original Pogue recipes under a time-honored and fixed formula very near a site often said to be the location of Kentucky's first bourbon distillery.

Maysville has a rich history, spanning more than 240 years. With a pioneer village and numerous museums and historic buildings, Maysville continues to remember the past as well as embrace the future.

AT A GLANCE

Maysville, Kentucky

The Maysville and Mason County area is more than a great place to visit, it's a great place to live and work! It has all the things that make a community home: friendly people, great schools, recreation and arts, a strong medical presence and a government with vision to help the area prosper and grow.

"Only In Your State" chose Maysville as the Absolutely Most Charming Town in Kentucky in March 2018. They state that one of Maysville's charms is its mix of old and new; it simply sparkles with history, architecture, character, and charm.

Maysville was chosen as Site Selection Magazine's "Great River Cup" for the most projects per capita along 1,000 miles of Ohio River. As part of the Port of Northern Kentucky/ Cincinnati, Maysville is included in the ranking as the #1 busiest inland port in the nation.

Not just a Home, a Community

Given its location and size, Maysville accommodates both town and country lifestyles. As one of the larger towns in the area, Maysville offers plenty of suburban housing and farmland, as well as riverfront properties. The downtown area features beautiful architecture as old buildings with classic looks are being renovated into new, upscale apartments, right along the river.

Maysville offers comfortable, affordable houses in all ranges of price, style and location from existing historic homes to new construction. A variety of neighborhoods, both in Maysville and Mason County, are available, including golf course communities, active senior communities, rural vistas for mini-farms, and spacious lots. Some neighborhoods boast views of the Ohio River, others offer a walkable neighborhood of historic homes.

When you combine low taxes, low utility costs, and low crime rates with proximity to area amenities, great schools, and a variety of entertainment choices, you get an outstanding community with hometown charm.

Maysville offers low property taxes compared to metropolitan areas, a feature that's hard to beat. Real estate tax per $100 in the city of Maysville is just $1.182 - or about $1773 for a house valued at $150,000. Some nearby metro areas compare at nearly double that.

In addition to permanent residences, a wide selection of rental properties are available. An often overlooked, but fantastic option is the historic downtown area. Recent renovations of historic second floors and availability of townhouses add a unique dimension in local housing.

Good sources of information on current rental properties and new home listings are available with local realty companies or online at www.usamls.net/buffalotrace. Real estate agencies are listed in the directory on page 48.

Maysville has a thriving arts scene. The local theatre troupe, the Maysville Players, frequently put on wonderful performances, both musicals and dramas, in the historic Washington Opera House. The Ohio River Valley Art Guild frequently presents art shows by local artists, and several retail galleries produce a variety of fine art.

We love a festival! Festivals occur all year round here. One of the bigger seasonal festivals is Maysville's Oktoberfest, which people travel from all cities and states to attend. People line up for schnitzel at the various vendors and food trucks set up all around the biergarten, while others sway to polka music on the dance floor.

The best part of living in a small town is the sense of community felt from having close relationships with friends and neighbors. Because people are continually moving into and out of Maysville, people make friends fast here. We are just far enough south to enjoy friendliness and hospitality with everyone, even if we've just met. Numerous community and civic organizations help improve the community while building relationships and networking.

Maysville is fortunate to have benefited from the hard work and generosity of these civic organizations. We have a large Boys & Girls Club which offers after school care, a summer camp, and year round sports leagues for young kids. We have one of the largest YMCAs for a town our size, as well as a great museum with both traveling exhibits and permanent installations. For those interested in volunteering or serving the community, there are many non-profit, emergency agencies, and churches of nearly every denomination in Maysville and Mason County.

The population of Maysville is mostly people 25 to 65, with school aged children. A small town

The Maysville Young Professionals Network exists to develop opportunities for young professionals in the greater Maysville area to network, learn, and serve their communities. We work hard to make sure young people know about all of the awesome things our area has to offer, and when there's something missing, we do what we can to bring it here! Our main goal is to attract and retain talented and skilled young people to Maysville and the surrounding area. We don't charge dues, and our meetings and events are always open.

Generally speaking, today's young professionals are millennials; we think of them as being 21 to 35... ish. But it's flexible and we're certainly not going to ID you (unless you're ordering a drink)! Our group welcomes all types of people, not just stereotypical professionals who might wear a suit every day and work in an office. Our members are teachers, engineers, chefs, farmers, insurance brokers, social workers, stay-at-home parents, marketing experts, stylists, healthcare professionals, musicians, baristas, small-business owners, students... you get the idea. Some of us are single and ready to mingle, others are married with kids (AKA future young professionals). What's important to us is making the greater Maysville area a place where young people thrive!

offers a sense of safety for families. This is the type of town where kids can still play outside at night in their neighborhoods, and ride their bikes to the community swimming pool at the Maysville Recreational Park.

Lots of outdoor activities abound here. It's a great location for cycling or running, with many gentle hills. Nearby there are also places to camp, canoe, kayak, and of course the river is great for boating. We have four golf courses ranging from the country club to a Par-3 course at the Maysville Recreational Park (Rec Park). The Rec Park also features miniature golf, a (recently renovated) community pool, an obstacle course for dogs, several playgrounds, shelter houses for picnicking, and a large fishing pond surrounded by a walking path. The Cummins Nature Preserve has many activities for kids, and groups to explore the woods through hiking trails. Along with these public spaces, several small community parks and playgrounds are tucked within neighborhoods.

Our two main schools - Mason County Public Schools, and St. Patrick Catholic Schools - offer a great education with many extra curricular activities. A variety of sports for both girls and boys are available at both schools, and both schools produce theater productions each year. Mason County schools also have a large music program for voice and instruments.

Maysville is a small town, but it's no sleepy little thing. With new, trendy businesses and restaurants opening all the time and beautiful downtown festivals and parades, it always has something to offer. Whether you've lived here your whole life, or are new to the area, this lively town ensures that there's always something going on, and always new memories to be made.

Sprinkles of Hope Bakery gives jobs to people with special needs. The downtown bakery employs those with special needs in order to give them valuable experience for both their careers and for the real world.

Some of our more popular events have included book clubs, game nights, trivia competitions, happy hours, special open-house events with local businesses, kid-friendly pool-parties, meet-and-greets and forums with local officials, service opportunities, and 'socials' at the nature preserve and elsewhere around town. To learn more about our upcoming events and meetings, like us on Facebook at facebook.com/maysvilleypn, or email us at maysvilleypn@gmail.com.

Kenton Pointe is unique because they truly listen to seniors and their families. That is how they have learned the importance of providing options to their residents, and it's why there's so much flexibility at Kenton Pointe! Residents are able to join friends in the dining room for a hearty eggs-to-order breakfast, or ease into the day in the privacy of their apartment, overlooking the green space. They can decide between curling up with a book in our open-air courtyard, enjoying a rousing discussion of current events in our parlor, or participating in one of the many campus activities.

Kenton Pointe also promotes the concept of "aging in place," which allows residents to remain in their Kenton Pointe home as long as possible. This is done through a variety of optional supportive services, which change as you change. After a Functional Needs Assessment, their staff will customize personal care services to a resident's specific needs.

The Maysville-Mason County Area Chamber of Commerce is a voluntary organization of citizens who are investing their time and money in a community development program - working together to improve the economic, civic and cultural well-being of the area. We unite businesses and professionals to collectively accomplish what cannot be done individually and works best with a broad base of support.

We strive to be recognized as an effective resource, providing relevant, innovative, and impactful information and programming that ensures a healthy business climate and an enhanced quality of life for the Maysville and Mason County Area.

Members of the Maysville-Mason Co. Area Chamber of Commerce make an investment in the future of our region. They benefit from the network of contacts established during Chamber functions, as well as from information and referral services available through the Chamber.

A major project that the Chamber has led is the process to become Kentucky Work Ready Certified. Mason County was first certified as a Work Ready In Progress Community in February 2014 and was fully certified as a Kentucky Work Ready Community in May 2017.

The Kentucky Work Ready Community certification is a measure of a county's workforce quality. It is an assurance to business and industry that the community is committed to providing the highly-skilled workforce required in today's competitive global economy.

To achieve the certification, representatives from local government, economic development, education, business and industry and workforce development come together to compile their county's information. Criteria that are measured are High School Graduation

Rate, Educational Attainment, including those with some college and those with higher degrees, decreasing the number of those who do not have a high school diploma, Community Support, those who hold the Kentucky Essential Skills Certificate or a Career Readiness Certificates, availability of internet, and available apprenticeships. The application also includes narratives describing what the county is doing to meet Workforce Supply vs. Demand and how the Disabled, Veteran, Ex-Offender and Medicaid populations are engaged in locating employment.

The Maysville-Mason County Area Chamber of Commerce continues to lead the County in achieving the goals needed for recertification.

Another important program in the region is Leadership Horizons, Inc. Recognizing that leadership development is an essential element in the process of workforce development; the program was created by the Maysville-Mason Co. Area and Fleming County Chambers of Commerce in 1997. The sessions assist participants in developing an awareness of the assets and strengths as well as problems and challenges faced in the region. Leadership Horizons provides an opportunity for participants to network and develop contacts that can assist them, both personally and professionally, in becoming a strong, positive influence on the future of our local communities and the region. Participants meet one day a month, September through May, to discover what the area offers in various areas such as Tourism and Recreation, Education, Media, Health and Human Services, State Government (a trip to the capitol in Frankfort, KY to meet with legislators), Economic Development, Agri-Business and Law & Justice. The program is administered and organized by the graduates of the program with oversight from the Maysville Chamber.

The City of Maysville has operated under the city manager form of government as put forth by Kentucky Revised Statute 83.160 since 1958. The City Manager is the chief executive officer of the City of Maysville, and this position is appointed by the Board of Commissioners for an indefinite term. It has a five member Board of Commissioners, including the Mayor, which sets policies through municipal orders, resolutions and ordinances.

Mason County operates under a commission form of government. The County is divided into three districts and commissioners, who, although elected at large, represent their respective district. Under KRS 67.710, the County Judge/Executive is the chief executive officer of the county and presides over Fiscal Court.

Created through an inter-local cooperative agreement between the City of Maysville and Mason County in 1985, the Maysville-Mason County Industrial Development Authority's (MMCIDA) purpose is to serve as the economic development and marketing agency for Maysville and Mason County. The Authority promotes the Maysville-Mason County area nationally and internationally as the preeminent community for new and expanding business entities. As the primary organization responsible for industrial and economic development within Maysville-Mason County, MMCIDA helps expand commerce and industry in the region through the development of four publicly owned industrial parks and a variety of financing mechanisms to assist the location and/or expansion of industry within Mason County.

Additionally, MMCIDA works with several allied partners locally and regionally on community-wide economic and workforce development initiatives such as e-connectivity, infrastructure and labor supply. Ultimately, MMCIDA's two main goals are to create diverse, high-paying, self-sustaining jobs and to expand the tax base of local government. Maysville/Mason County currently has four industrial parks throughout the county with several shovel ready sites and existing available buildings. For additional information and site-specific details, please visit the Mason County Community Profile at www.thinkkentucky.com, or contact Owen McNeill, MMCIDA Executive Director at 606-564-2510 / owenmcneill@maysvilleky.net.

Since 2015, business locations and expansions total an investment of $120,900,000 with service and technology expansions totaling $9,479,460. During the same time frame, two new companies have located in Maysville.

Maysville Shopping from big to small businesses, has everything you're looking for! While Maysville is fortunate to have some large, national and regional chain stores like Wal-Mart, Kroger, JC Penney, Lowe's, Tractor Supply Store, and Rural King, it is the smaller, specialty shops that make for a unique experience. And you can't get more unique (or small) than the gift shop at the Kentucky Gateway Museum Center. After touring the museum, stop by the gift shop for an array of books and gifts tied to our history and place on the map. Or if you're feeling inspired by the incredible collection of miniatures and ready to start your own collection, KYGMC offers museum quality miniatures for purchase from acclaimed artists from around the world.

If you're looking for something a bit bigger, say a life-sized couch or chair, McRoberts Furniture either has it or can get it for you. They have an impressive amount of furniture on display, because sometimes, you just have to sit in a chair to decide! Elementz furniture and home goods can also help you fill your new home with many contemporary pieces and accessories. If a one-of-a-kind item is your dream, the sky's the limit at Brannen Custom Furniture, or you could go the "new to you" route with something from Cotterill's Antiques. More antiques and collectibles, as well as floral arrangements are available at Carol Jean Flowers, a locally owned floral shop.

special gifts. Spartina, Lilly Pulitzer, and Vera Wang are just some of the name brands you'll see at Whitney's, and just a few doors down is the Vera Bradley bag you've wanted (um, needed!) at Bedouin's Merle Norman Cosmetics and Gifts. A former airline attendant owns The Lamb's Ear, so there is always something off the beaten path to find there. And next door, the Lorraine Marcella Gallery has beautiful art, photographs, and gifts featuring Maysville and its beautiful surroundings.

Lorraine's work is available already framed, or you can choose your own at Mckay's Custom Framing. The Chameleon offers a unique combination of antiques, gifts, and a cigar bar. The Classic Closet is not only an upscale consignment store, but has a wide array of Kentucky, Maysville, and bourbon themed gifts.

The Eat Gallery is as much a visual experience as a store. Some time ago, one of the town's favorite greasy-spoon restaurants used to occupy that space. The neon EAT sign out front told everyone it was time to eat, if you needed a reminder. The owners kept the old "EAT" sign and named their new business Exquisite Art Treasures. You can find things as varied as hand-crafted jewelry of all precious stones and prices, gifts for men, or an amethyst cathedral! Plus, the store itself is a great example of timeless architecture and restoration.

On the same side of the street is one of the state's premiere quilt stores, Apron Strings. One can buy new wedding and formal wear at Lady Elizabeth Designs or size and repair what you already have-

Miniature of the Russell Theatre on display at the Kentucky Gateway and Museum Center. The Russell Theatre is a 1930 movie theater that has been restored.

Celebrating a vivid past while embracing the promise and advantages of the 21st Century, Maysville has been and always will be proud of its rich heritage. Years ago, City government realized the importance of our diverse architecture and has worked diligently to find new uses for the wonderful collection of historic buildings we call home. From putting culinary arts in the 1886 Cox Building to transforming an old Montgomery Ward Department store into an Events Center; these are just a few examples of how our history is still playing a role in today's economy.

We really do have something for everyone! Enjoy new release movies at the recently renovated Lucas Cinema 4, or live entertainment at the Washington Opera House, home of local theater group, the Maysville Players. Their 2018-19 season includes Mother Hicks, The Best Christmas Pageant Ever: The Musical, Doubt, Fools, and Music Man (Jr.). Another jewel is the Russell Theatre, an atmospheric theatre listed on the National Register of Historic Places. The theatre transports you to a time of Spanish Colonial Revival architecture under the twinkling stars and floating clouds. The theatre has come alive again with movies, concerts, tours and rentals while raising funds to complete its restoration.

THINGS TO DO

The Kentucky Gateway Museum Center (KYGMC) offers several experiences for residents and visitors to our region.

Explore our region's history before and after the Revolutionary War. View exquisite art treasures and craftsmanship in the Kathleen Savage Miniatures Collection. Discover your ancestry at our Genealogical and Historical Research Library. Learn more about America's Native Spirit and Kentucky Bourbon Whiskey at the Old Pogue (Bourbon) Experience.

Exhibits in the Jean W. Calvert Gallery change on a regular basis throughout the year and the KYGMC Education Outreach Program touches students at all academic levels throughout the seven county service area.

The gift shop offers a variety of merchandise including miniatures, books, Blenko glass, greeting cards, stoneware, jewelry and more.

The Historic Bourbon Displays at the Old Pogue Experience

The Kentucky Gateway Museum Center recently began a partnership with the Pogue family to assist with the permanent gallery to display the historic story of Maysville's role in the formation of the bourbon industry. The bourbon history exhibits are housed in the Kentucky Gateway Museum Center's Limestone Building at the corner of Second and Sutton Streets in downtown Maysville. These exhibits are dictated to telling the Old Pogue story and will become the starting place for visitors that are coming to Maysville to participate in the B-Line and Craft Bourbon Tour experiences.

The Kentucky Gateway Museum Center, in partnership with the Pogue family, along with local collectors and Museum's bourbon collection highlight Maysville's bourbon history. The displays and exhibit feature the historical background of Maysville (formerly known as Limestone) as the place where bourbon began its journey to the rest of the country by way of the Ohio River and the Maysville Road (now U.S. 68).

The bourbon exhibits showcased in the KYGMC's Limestone Building tell the story of Maysville's historic bourbon heritage to area residents and visitors. In addition to artifacts from Old Pogue Distillery, there are other priceless artifacts like Maysville stoneware jugs, advertising pieces, and documents. These items take visitors from the early days of arriving at Limestone in 1784 to modern day bourbon production at the Old Pogue Distillery in Maysville.

ANNUAL FESTIVALS

Special events and festivals are the mainstay of Maysville-Mason County Tourism. Maysville loves a street party as is evident throughout the summer and fall as everyone congregates on Market Street for wine tasting at Maysville Uncorked, barbecue at Pig Out in Maysville, or just good music and family fun at one of the other many downtown events. In Old Washington, we hold true to the frontier heritage with annual events such as the Simon Kenton Harvest Festival and Frontier Christmas.
